WHAT IS GEMILUT HASADIM?

Gemilut Hasadim means “bestowing kindness”. In Judaism, an attribute of G-d is said to be imitated by those who show personal kindness towards others.

The Gemilut Hasadim Committee at MJCBY is here to help support you and your family during times of need. Whether experiencing an illness, recovering from surgery, or having lost a loved one, we are here to help make difficult times a little easier.

We are able to cook and deliver meals, provide support during shiva, or help connect you with other resources. If you or a fellow congregant could benefit from our services, please contact Debbie Goldstein. If you would like to be added to the list of those available to help when needs arise, please contact Debbie as well.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Embracing and Welcoming Change

Jason Navarino

Kohelet (or was it the Byrds?) teaches us:
*A season is set for everything, a time for every experience under heaven:
A time for being born and a time for dying,*

*A time for planting and a time for uprooting the planted,
A time for slaying and a time for healing,
A time for tearing down and a time for building up,
A time for weeping and a time for laughing,
A time for wailing and a time for dancing...
A time for seeking and a time for losing,
A time for keeping and a time for discarding.*

We are always embracing (or being forced to embrace) a new season. When we sit down for the Pesach seder, we know that spring has sprung. And yet on the night of the second seder, we begin counting the Omer, our halakhic countdown to Shavuot and summer. Time marches on, whether we are ready or not.

There is a time for saying farewell. Rabbi Nesson's 35-year tenure at the helm of our beloved synagogue is quickly coming to an end. At the invitation of our Rabbi Celebration Committee, ably led by Amy Brunswick and Linda Prentiss, so many of you have expressed your appreciation for Rabbi Nesson's many years of teaching, inspiration, and service to our community. And so many of you have taken our ads in the online journal and RSVP'd for the events of the weekend of May 5 through 7, when we take a moment to honor Rabbi Nesson for his many years of dedication to our community. The events are shaping up to be fun and meaningful (and well attended!). And still, many of us want just a little more time, another chance to be moved by one of Rabbi Nesson's sermons, another opportunity to recall happy memories with Rabbi Nesson in our shul.

There is time for welcoming change. On the eve of Pesach, I had the honor and pleasure of announcing to our community that Adam Gillman, a young and energetic new member of the Conservative movement's rabbinic community, will be joining us in Morristown in July of this year. The Rabbi Search Committee, ably led by Joshua Charm, identified Rabbi Gillman out of a pool of applicants and enthusiastically recommended him as their choice for our next rabbi. Many of us got to meet him and his fiancée Leah when they visited us back in February, and found his engagement with us, his answers to our questions, and indeed the questions he asked us to be insightful and indicative of his ability to sustain and grow our congregation. Accordingly, the Board of Directors overwhelmingly approved the search committee's recommendation, and we look forward to Rabbi Gillman and Leah soon becoming part of our community and joining Cantor Shana to form a dynamic clergy team at our helm.

And there is a time for welcoming the next generation. Hopefully many of you have read the press coverage about the Jewish young professionals that we have hosted for a number of Friday night dinners or gotten to meet the members of this group at a number of our recent events for which they joined us. It was an easy choice for us to formally adopt the Jewish Young Community of the Morris County Area as an arm of MJCBY in late March. We welcome this group – part of a demographic that is often neglected by organized Judaism, in between college and marriage or children – and look forward to growing with them.

Thankfully, some things last across seasons, and across generations. As MJCBY approaches its 125th anniversary, we remain a warm and welcoming community, caring for the needs of our members, young and old. We embrace change while maintaining our traditions, and we pass on those traditions to the next generation, which will hopefully accept those traditions, but likely will do so in their own unique way. It is time – indeed, it is always time – for us to both celebrate and recommit ourselves to maintaining this wonderful community.

CANTOR'S NOTES

Lag Ba'Omer - The Holiday with 3 Origin Stories Cantor Shana

Rabbi Nesson is known for occasionally bringing clever props to the bimah for use in his sermons. I think the most memorable one that I witnessed was the day that he brought a bow and arrow to shoot from the bimah across the sanctuary. It was a child's bow and arrow, not the kind that could hurt anyone, but it certainly got everyone's attention. I'm fairly sure it made it all the way to the back row.

I believe Rabbi Nesson shot off that arrow to mark the somewhat obscure and mysterious holiday of Lag Ba'Omer, that is, the 33rd day of the 49-day period from Pesach to Shavuot, during which it is a mitzvah to "count the Omer" every night by reciting a blessing and then announcing which night of the Omer we are on. Most people associate Lag Ba'Omer with picnics, archery, and bonfires -- a perfect near-the-end-of-the-school-year time for a field day out in the sunshine. Great fun - but some of us always want origin stories when it comes to Jewish tradition, and I must confess that every year I find Lag Ba'Omer to be an awfully confusing one. It seems that the more I read about it, the more different stories I find, and there doesn't seem to be one consensus about exactly what we are celebrating on this day.

I want to first explain where its name comes from: the word "Lag" is representing the number 33: ל represents 30, and ג represents 3. Put them together with a vowel under the ל and you get the sound "Lag", which is certainly faster and easier to say than 'sheloshim v'shalosh' for the number 33.

The most well-known origin story for Lag Ba'Omer seems to be that there was a terrible plague that raged among the students of Rabbi Akiba during the counting of the Omer, and that the plague finally stopped on the 33rd day of the Omer -- that is, on that day, no students died. There are some explanations that claim that rather than 'plague' it was that Akiba's students were not actually dying of plague but rather dying fighting against the Romans in the ill-fated Bar Kochba revolt, but that later writers used 'plague' as a euphemism for that attempted revolt because they did not yet feel safe even referring to it, so strict and oppressive were the Roman rulers. If this is the case, then the tradition of holding a field day with archery might be referring to either re-enacting the Jewish revolt against the Romans, or reflecting on the clever tactics of the rabbis of the time to trick the Roman soldiers: much like the Hanukkah story of Jews playing dreidel to hide that they were studying Torah, there are stories of Jews pretending to hold archery tournaments to cover the fact that they were really studying Torah in secret.

Whether it was relief from death by plague or relief from death by failed revolt, I have to say that the date hardly seems to be one worth celebrating for those reasons alone -- even at their best, neither of these versions of the story end in victory, resolution, or safety for the Jewish people. Another explanation for this holiday is that Lag Ba'Omer is the yahrzeit of Rabbi Shimon Bar Yochai, one of the students of Rabbi Akiba and considered to be the writer of the Zohar, a book of mystical interpretations of the Tanakh, the original source for Kabbalah. There are several stories told about Shimon Bar Yokhai that connect to the traditions observed on Lag Ba'Omer: that after living 12 years as an ascetic in a cave, he developed superpowers that caused everything he looked at to catch on fire -- hence the bonfires on Lag Ba'Omer. There is also the explanation that while he was alive, there was never a rainbow visible in the sky, because the Jews did not need to see the reminder of the promise that God would not destroy the earth; Rabbi Shimon Bar Yokhai's living presence on earth was enough to make up for that. The word for "rainbow" in Hebrew is קשת, the same word for the "bow" in bow and arrow, so that is the connection to the tradition of engaging in archery on Lag Ba'Omer. Lastly, there is the tradition of eating carob on Lag Ba'Omer, and the story that Shimon Bar Yokhai lived in a cave for 12 years includes the detail that he was sustained by a carob tree that grew nearby.

There is a third unrelated explanation about the significance of Lag Ba'Omer, which is that according to the Torah, it was the day on which manna began to appear. This isn't a terribly popular explanation, as it certainly doesn't seem to have anything to do with archery, and the Torah seems to set the date of this event a couple of days earlier than the 18th of Iyar.

But one of the things Lag Ba'Omer is most notable for, is its surprising emphasis on encouraging even the most dedicated students and yeshiva-bokhers to stop studying - what a shocking idea! - long enough to go outside and enjoy the sunshine. So, (closing books, turning off computer, getting up to stretch) let's do it! Enjoy your Lag Ba'Omer -- I hope to see you out in the fields, or around a bonfire!

HISTORY CORNER

The Back Story on The Forward Article

Lew Stone, History Chair (with help from his wife, Julie)

The Forward [formerly the Yiddish newspaper started 125 years ago; now in English and exclusively online] ran an article about MJCBY and its inspiring teachers. Here is a link to the article. If you cannot access the link, go to the home page for The Forward and type in the search box “How a pair of” and it will come up. If you wish, you can call me, and I can email a hard copy.

Over our shul’s 124-year history, we take pride in having noteworthy people as members. There is a prominent journalist named Miller [subject of a future article]. The satirist and essayist Fran Lebowitz, her parents and her grandparents were members. Gene Shalit, the film critic and his family were members. The current head of Goldman Sachs may have been a member as he grew up in Morristown, but I am still researching his family. Notable author Michele Kriegman and her family are members.

The Newmark family have been active members of the MJCBY congregation for more than 100 years. This is the often-displayed reprint of the 1929 Board of Directors. Note Emil Newmark in the lower center. Both Dora and Lillian Newmark served as Presidents of Sisterhood. You can see their photos in the hall. Our library was initially endowed by the Newmark family and is dedicated to Laura Newmark. See the bronze plaque on the wall.

Julie and I have attended several events sponsored by The Forward. When Jodi Rudoren, Editor in Chief of The Forward, decided to write an article about MJCBY's former religious school principal and his wife, Rafael and Rachel Levin, she reached out to Julie. Julie's reflection on 50 years after her Bat Mitzvah at MJCBY was published in our newsletter and an excerpt in The Forward.

The Levins moved to town in 1952 and were very influential as teachers. So, Julie worked her sources in the community, gathered stories, and provided background that helped her find information in the digital files of Jewish Historical Society of Greater MetroWest that filled in critical gaps. Brothers Jeff and Craig Newmark thought highly enough of the Levins to donate money in their memory to MJCBY. There are more stories about the Levins in The Forward article.

Graduation photo featuring Mr. Levin, the short man without a tallit. The photo was displayed at the 120th Anniversary Celebration with a full caption of all the students [which took a while to track down]. If you want to know all the people in the photo, I can email you the caption. Shout out to Adele Goldfinger Black [and others] who helped with the caption.

Through Julie's work, Eta, the daughter of the Levins, was located. Some of the grandchildren of the Levins were also located. They have been invited to MJCBY for a tour and to meet some folks who remember the Levins.

When the article was published, I wrote to Jodi, the Editor:

"In my rosy view of the world, folks all over the world are going to read the Levin article and reminisce about a Religious School teacher that THEY had as a child, and they will reach out to their former shul, and make a similar donation in honor or memory of a teacher or teacher that influenced them. Unfortunately, such a wave of donations is not quantifiable but know in your article will have an impact."

She answered:

"Lewis, thanks so much for writing, and for your help in tracking down Eta. The first part is already definitely happening, I have gotten emails from people remembering the Religious School teachers that inspired them." [and donations are being made]

In Conclusion: MJCBY is now raising funds for our Religious School. We need to raise $25,000 to qualify for a matching grant from the Gottesman Foundation for our Educational Endowment Fund. If you were influenced by some Religious School teacher in your past, wherever you may have attended Religious School, please consider honoring them and their lasting impression they made on you and your values and donate in their honor or memory to the Education Endowment Fund. If you know the address of the shul or the address of the teacher you are honoring, wherever they are in the USA, the office can mail an acknowledgement of your donation to them as well as to you.

EDUCATION ENDOWMENT & KOL NIDRE FUNDS

Thank you so much for your ongoing support of MJCBY! Without your financial support, we could not have achieved as much as we have. Today, we call on you to help strengthen our community by making a commitment to support our Education Endowment Fund. Thanks to an incredibly generous fellow congregant, every dollar you contribute will be matched, up to $25,000. Even more important to this effort, we are aiming to reach 100% participation from our congregation. No contribution is too small, and all donations are greatly appreciated.

On many fronts, the last few years have been challenging. Our dues cover only a portion of the synagogue's operating budget. The Education Fund directly benefits the religious school's comprehensive programming that sets MJCBY apart from all other synagogues in our area.

As your lay leadership, we are working hard to chart the best path forward for our community, which has changed significantly over the last three years. We have begun to develop a comprehensive strategic plan. We need to help our new rabbi be successful. We have entered a new era that requires a significantly greater focus and costs to address the critical issues facing our physical structure and our community's needs. This is in addition to the regular cost of our programming and staff.

Our board of directors understands that there is a limit to how many fundraising requests our members are prepared to consider. Given the future promises as MJCBY welcomes a new rabbi, works to repair our physical structure, and continues the legacy of excellent programming, we hope you will consider matching your previous contribution to the Kol Nidre fund, and supporting that effort with at least an $18 contribution today. Like the Education Fund, we aim to start the next fiscal year with 100% participation from our congregation for both efforts.

We are always available to speak or to answer questions if you would like more information. Please do not hesitate to call upon us anytime. Our contact information appears below.

Thank you again for your consideration, your past support, and your future commitment and involvement.

B'shalom,

SECURITY CORNER

Emergency Response & Mass Notification System

Alexis McGrath, Security

Many of you are at the MJCBY building on a monthly, weekly, or even daily basis. You attend religious services and community events and bring your children and grandchildren to Shalom Yeladim and Religious School. MJCBY leadership does everything within its power to keep you and your families safe while on MJCBY property. MJCBY leadership also recognizes, however, that bad things sometimes happen in life regardless of how much we try to prevent them. These incidents, whether stemming from natural or man-made causes, whether accidental or intentional, can pose a threat to safety and our synagogue's ability to operate.

One of the Security Committee's primary responsibilities is to ensure that if one of these "bad things" happen, our staff, teachers, clergy, and volunteers have already been trained on high-quality emergency response procedures to save lives and limit damage. The ability to communicate information and guidance quickly with you--our staff, families, and members--in the event of an emergency is a vital part of this process.

The information you need in an emergency might be as simple as a warning that we are closed until further notice due to a safety problem with the building or impending severe weather. On the other hand, we may need to notify you of an active threat against our community, a lockdown, or an evacuation. In cases such as these, it is critical that we can quickly send you accurate information about the incident, what you can safely do (or not do), and guidance on family reunification.

MJCBY leadership, with the help of the Secure Community Network, has arranged to use the Everbridge emergency mass notification system for this purpose. This communication system will only ever be accessed and used by select trained members of MJCBY's leadership to notify you of an emergency at MJCBY and provide associated guidance. Everbridge allows us to notify you via a landline phone call, text message, and email. The success of this system, however, is dependent on the accuracy of the information you've provided to MJCBY. The Security Committee will be implementing Everbridge in waves as member contact information is updated by our staff. We may contact you to confirm your emergency contact information, and encourage you to update your information in ShulCloud. If you need help doing so, the front office is happy to assist (office@mjcby.org or 973-538-9292).

If you have any questions about security at MJCBY, want to suggest a Security Corner topic, or would like to volunteer, please email the security committee at security@mjcby.org.

LIFELONG LEARNING

Spotlight of the Month – USY Better Together

Miriam Loew, Director

In the words of Gabe Diring, Grade 5:

I joined the Better Together program because my mom asked if I wanted to do a project by going to an elderly home. At first, I wasn't sure, but when she said I was going to do fun activities and games, I rethought my decision and decided to give it a try. Over the past few sessions, I got to meet a lot of new people. One of these people is a woman named Sylvia. Sylvia was born on March 28, 1940, and is 82, almost 83. Sylvia was born in Russia. When Sylvia has free time, she likes to read books. Sylvia's favorite book is called Exodus. Israel has made a big impact on her life. Throughout Sylvia's life, she has been to Israel 7 times for family, friends and just for vacation. Out of all the places she has been, Sylvia's favorite place is Costa Rica because of the butterflies and the environment. The best thing Sylvia has seen is an Israeli wedding. One thing still on Sylvia's bucket list is to see her grandkids get married. One of the goals Sylvia has accomplished is that she has learned many languages. Sylvia's hardest decision in life was leaving everything in Poland to move to America. If Sylvia ever won the lottery she would donate to charity and travel. Sylvia's dream job would be a child doctor. Some more goals that Sylvia has is to stay healthy and travel more. Sylvia wants to have a legacy of being a good person. Better Together was a great decision to join because I got to learn about people's life stories and do some fun activities and games with the elderly.

Gabe Diring, 5th grade, working on his Better Together article at our Starbucks writing party.

USY Better Together visited Lester Senior Living with flowers for Pesach, last licks of Chametz cookies, and a relaxing Passover Mandala activity. Before our visit, our USY and Kadima groups enjoyed lunch and a fun Chametz scavenger hunt!

SHALOM YELADIM – THE JUDIE GERSTEIN EARLY LEARNING CENTER

Good Deeds!

Michelle Nulman, Director of Shalom Yeladim

Performing “Good deeds” is an important part of our experience at Shalom Yeladim. We teach and talk about being good people throughout the whole year. On Fridays, we collect tzedakah money, and 1-2 times per year, we give it to an organization in need. This is a wonderful way to instill in our students values such as gratitude, empathy, and generosity. We teach these concepts in our classrooms every day. We bring it up in conversations, through stories, and we also organize donations to help our community. Last month, we teamed up with our families and our teachers to get donations to make PAK kits for NourishNJ. The children brought donations, sorted them, counted them, and then helped fill bags to donate to people in need. They were so excited to fill the bags with hand sanitizer, water bottles, protein bars, laundry pods, toilet paper, shampoo, conditioner, body wash, and a hand towel. Thank you to all who donated!

Registration for our Summer Fun program and for the Fall for ages 2.5 - 4.5-year-olds is still open. Please spread the word!

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

Spotlight of the Month: Cantor Shana's Model Seder!

Miriam Loew, Director of Religious School

Although Pesach is behind us, please enjoy this spotlight on our annual Model Seder. Organized and conducted by our very own Cantor Shana, it is a true example of excellence in teaching and learning.

Our students are greeted with a beautifully set room, complete with fancy dishes, Seder plates, foods and drink, and cards in various stacks strategically placed for interactive learning throughout the Seder. Additionally, each Seder step is prominently displayed on individual tables, ready for select students (who will find a Seder step card on their plate) to demonstrate to the rest of the school throughout the Seder. Next, our students are divided into teams. Each team comes up with a name and a scorekeeper records points for the groups as the Seder progresses.

There are songs of course, interactive games and activities, matching games, Hebrew word cards, drums, Afikomen searches, and so much more. The teams are kept on their toes as they learn about each Seder step, the blessings and songs, the traditions, the meaning behind it all, and the significance to their own lives. The highlight of course is the delicious Matzah ball soup (with a gluten free option!).

Our teams this year were: Cherut - Freedom, Pesach Ruach - Passover Power, Egg-sellent Jews! and Pesach Partiers! They all did a fantastic job. Most importantly, they had a blast while gaining a tremendous amount of knowledge in a short period of time. We hope that these exciting experiences during their formative years, will inspire our students to stay connected to Jewish life and learning for years to come!

As our year ends, our Religious School staff and students are finishing strong with an interactive and exciting Israel unit this month! We will miss our students in the summer and can't wait to see them all again in the fall!

SOCIAL ACTION

Come and volunteer with us!

Lou Bodian & Howard Buxbaum, Social Action Chairs

Loub48@Gmail.com - HowardBuxbaum@Gmail.com

As reported in last month's Bulletin, we had a very successful Mitzvah Day program. With over 100 participants - from young children to senior citizens - we were able to assemble 500 Breakfast Bags and over 40 Purposeful Acts of Kindness (PAK) packages- all of which went to the NourishNJ soup kitchen located up the block from the shul on Sussex Avenue. It took 4 trips to deliver all these supplies. We also put together over 25 backpacks with school supplies for upcoming Heat Start students.

We continue to be active, volunteering at NourishNJ at their kitchen putting together lunch boxes, at the Sussex Avenue food distribution center handing out lunches (and Breakfast Bags), and at local farmers markets located around Morristown. We invite MJCBY congregants to join us in these opportunities to help our less fortunate neighbors.
